

Dr. Kaida Xiao

Dr Kaida Xiao is an Associate Professor in Colour and Imaging Science and research group leader for Colour Technology at the School of Design, University of Leeds, UK. He received his PhD from the Colour and Imaging Institute, the University of Derby, UK, in 2007. Before joining the University of Leeds in 2016, he worked in the Samsung Advanced Institute of Technology in South Korea, University of Sheffield, and University of Liverpool in UK. His research interest includes Colour Appearance Modelling, Skin colour measurement, perception and reproduction, total appearance measurement for textile. He has published more than 100 papers in Colour and Imaging Science. He is the associate director of CIE Division 1, national representative of CIE Division 8, technical committee chair for TC 1-92 and TC 8-17. He is senior editor of Colour Research and Application and associate editor of Frontiers in Imaging.